I'm writing to you in regards to the article "Made in The USA? Well Maybe." , from the Sheet Metal Workers' Journal. I have been working for a big contracting company for about two years now and was planning on joining the union in only a matter of few a few weeks. After reading this article I question myself to that decision.

Buying things that are made in the USA gives us pride, pride and joy for our country. When we see something that says Made in The USA, immediately something goes through our mind that a certain product is more than likely safe and worth buying. We see enough things as is made in others countries. When I go out and buy a brand new automobile, I want it to not only say Made in The USA, I want it to mean it. I know many that have pride in there American cars that are Made in The USA and would not buy anything else. USA needs our continuing support. Buying something that is Made in The USA is just worth the extra buck. Knowing you can trust the product and its high quality. I believe there are many out there that would agree. It gives you the comfort of knowing that what you buy is none other than American. "Anything else..., would be uncivilized."

I hope this letter and many others like it help support the F.T.C. and its decisions and not only my best of luck is with you. but my hope as well...

Sincerely yours,

Your fellow American(Made in The USA in 1977)
